Slava Isusu Khrystu! Glory be to Jesus Christ!

Dear Beloved Parishioners & Guests,

I recently read an interesting sermon by Miles Wesner and his lesson came in very handy when I was approached by a parishioner who came to me with a serious problem and couldn't understand why.

When she complained to me about her many problems, I told her that there is a place she can visit where people have no problems whatsoever and she asked me where this place is. So I told her... it's either Yorkton City Cemetery or Memorial Gardens. The people there are totally free of problems! The fact that we have problems means that we are still very much alive! Our many problems do not allow us to become too comfortable and can actually encourage us to grow and yes, they may allow us to experience God's presence. Sometimes it takes a trauma or a personal crisis to make us think of God.

Think about it - when everything is going smoothly, we often forget to pray...but the moment we are faced with a real problem, we, not only pray but may even pray most fervently! Wesner gives us a wonderful example in a story about two men who had a job of charting a challenging mountain.

Each day they went up this mountain and each evening returned to their camp where they sat talking to an old shepherd. One evening the shepherd said to them that he knows the mountain like the back of his hand and that he offers to go up with them. The men refused, saying that they have been up the mountain many times and besides, they have a detailed map to show them exactly where to go if they should get lost.

But the shepherd replied: "I know that you have a map but there is no fog on your map!" In the morning the two men went up the mountain and, sure enough, a dense fog enveloped them and soon they were hopelessly lost. After stumbling around for a long time, they were happily surprised by the shepherd who appeared to them out of the thick fog and safely led them down to their camp.

Is this not our story? When things go well, we are confident and self-sufficient. But when something happens and we get lost and desperate...do we not often immediately pray for guidance? We look for God's presence in our lives! We need that shepherd!

Even though we do not welcome problems in our lives, we must admit that they can give us greater understanding. "Nemo dat quod non habet." - 'We cannot give anyone what we do not have.' We may have little understanding for other people's problems if we have never known grief or suffering! Living through trials most certainly gives us more understanding and patience which we, in turn, should share with others! When we are not battling any problems, we sometimes become indifferent or apathetic! Suffering, on the other hand, sharpens our spiritual awareness. Troubles have the potential of strengthening us and often make us more merciful and more loving.

So let us not indulge in self-pity. Let us not feel sorry for ourselves and become suffering martyrs. Let us not waste precious energy needed to fight problems. Let us look upon our various problems as an opportunity. Let us use them to experience God's loving presence and providence. Let us even use our problems to identify with Jesus and His suffering- for us! Let us, therefore, become more compassionate and more caring. Let us find our way to the warm embrace of our God.
